

Germans Fall Back As Six Allied Armies Heap On Pressure

American Seventh And Third Armies Find Nazi Resistance Broken, Disorganized

By William Frye

LONDON, Nov. 21—(P)—French armor thrusting northward down the Rhine stormed Mulhouse today, and U. S. troops captured Sarrebourg, 32 miles from the Rhine, in an eastward drive collapsing the whole German stand in the Vosges mountains.

The swift-paced French perhaps had already entered Mulhouse, an industrial city of 97,000, in exploitation of their Belfort breakthrough. This push was undermining German positions for 100 miles to the north.

Both the American Seventh and Third armies were beating eastward toward Strasbourg and Saarbrücken, meeting weakening rearward resistance from Germans apparently retreating to the Rhine.

The 44th division of the Seventh army captured Sarrebourg (pop. 6,500)—70 miles northwest of Mulhouse—and mechanized patrols were stabbing onward toward Strasbourg 30 miles beyond.

Third army forces fought within 18 miles of Saarbrücken in the industrially-rich Saar basin. Still farther north, tanks of the Third

No Sign of German Crackup

Eisenhower's Plan Is to Steadily Increase Pressure And Crush Enemy

By Edward Kennedy

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 21—(P)—Gen. Eisenhower declared today his plan for future operations is to increase pressure steadily all along the western front until the Germans are crushed.

To do this, greater supplies are necessary, the supreme commander of the western front said. "I want more supplies than we are getting and I think the soldier wants more than he is getting, both now and in the future," he said.

"To get peace, we have got to fight like hell for it," the commander said, "now let's do it." Eisenhower appeared fit as ever after a tour of all parts of the fighting zone, and said he was especially happy over the French breakthrough to the Rhine.

METZ, Nov. 21—(P)—Remnants of the Metz garrison still fought on today on Sauley and Chambiere islands in the northern portion of the fortress city, but American troops had wiped out all large-scale organized resistance in the first successful frontal assault on Metz since the day of Attila the Hun.

The German commander in the northern part of Metz spurned an ultimatum to surrender. Five fortress groups continued firing.

(These fortress groups apparently were remaining strongholds in the Metz ring which had been bypassed or surrounded.)

The Third army men captured Maj. Gen. Anton Dunker, commander of the SS (Elite Guard) troops in Metz, Monday.

army had driven three miles into Germany.

French troops charged into the fortress city of Belfort—bypassed in the plunge to the Rhine—and were fighting to clean it up, a front dispatch declared tonight. Heavy reinforcements were moving into it, and into the power drive along the Rhine.

Even Surprised French

The sweep into Belfort was surprising, even to the assaulting French, for it and Metz—taken by Third army doughboys—had been considered the two strongest fortresses in eastern France. Belfort is ringed by more than a score of satellite forts.

It appeared the Germans were giving up their last positions on French soil.

But resistance continued strong in the north, especially against the Americans and British making slow gains in the Aachen sectors of Germany in rain and mud.

Six Allied armies were heaping on this pressure at quickening pace. The U. S. Seventh and Third armies, swarming eastward in the other blade of a broken-American scissors, hit into French Nazi resistance described officially as sporadic and disorganized.

An unconfirmed Swiss report said the French were attempting to bridge the Rhine southeast of Mulhouse. An assault was reported underway on Mulhouse itself.

Farm-to-Market Road Commissioners

The Pettis county court Monday appointed four new county highway and road commissioners to succeed the four who have tendered their resignations. The commissioners handle all road affairs of the county pertaining to farm-to-market roads between the county court and the state highway department.

The new commissioners, whose terms expire in May, 1945 are: Frank Van Dyke, Mora, James P. Higgins, Houstonia, Millard Wagenknecht, Smithton, and J. O. Latimer, Nelson.

They succeeded Roy Taylor of Longwood, B. F. Parker, La Monte, Charles Wisdom of Green Ridge and John Stuhner, Lake Creek.

Gallant French army and its reaching the Rhine," Eisenhower said.

The general told correspondents that his plans were to hit and hammer the Germans with increasing pressure, reaching its peak on the day the Nazis finally surrender.

All-Out Effort

"Unless everyone all the way through the Nations—those at the front and those at home—keep on the job everlastingly and with mounting intensity, we are only postponing the day of victory," Eisenhower declared.

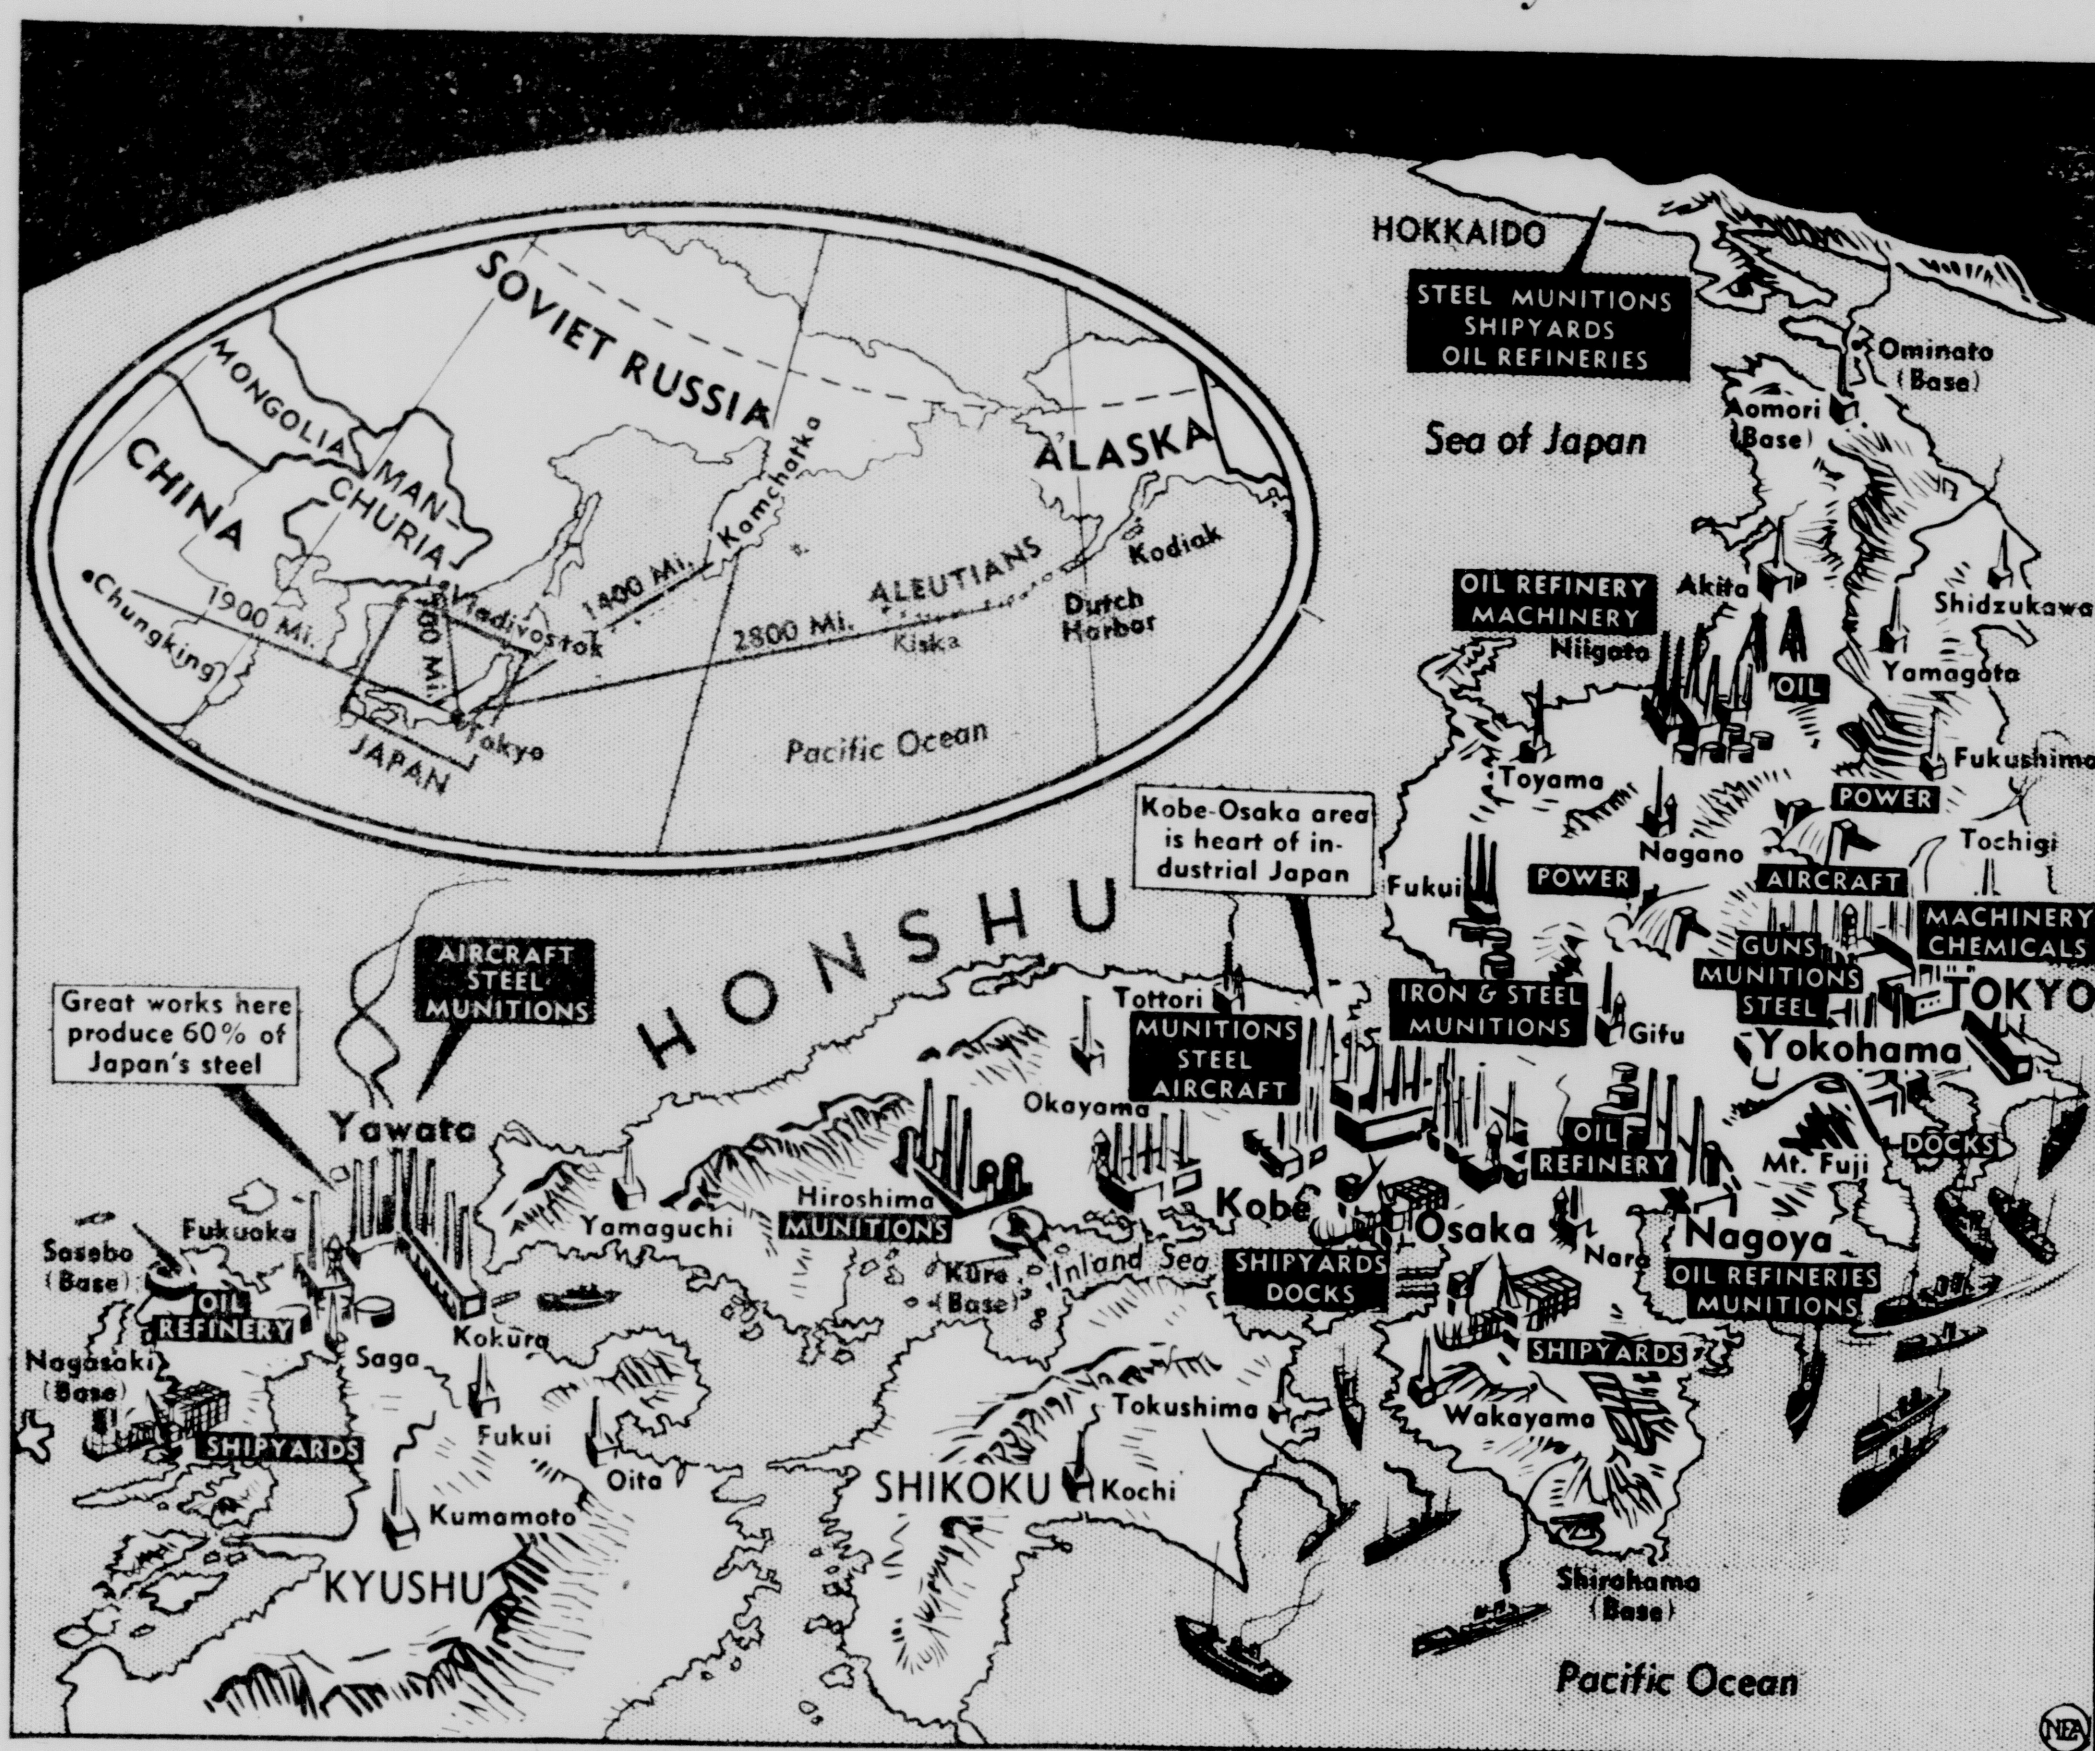

"The very maximum effort must be made on the day of surrender."

Eisenhower declined to make any prediction as to when the war would end and said his call for an all-out effort both at the front and at home was his "prescription for victory."

Boone County Goes Over In War Bond Drive

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 21—(P)—Boone county's scheduled parade to spur purchase of war bonds this afternoon became a celebration instead when the county completed its quota of $1,013,000 in the Sixth war bond drive just 25½ hours after the campaign started formally at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. At 10:30 a. m. the county's total was $1,040,000.

Superfortresses Flying From China Bomb Island of Kyushu

Superfortresses in heavy strength hit the Japanese homeland island of Kyushu again today. General H. H. Arnold, as commanding general of the 20th air force, made the brief announcement with the promise of more information, as to results and possible losses of any of the big bombers, "when further details are available."

The first report said merely that "a large task force of B-29 aircraft" attacked industrial targets on Kyushu, the mission being carried out from China bases by General Curtis E. Lemay's 30th bomber command.

On previous B-29 raids against Kyushu, the big aircraft center of Omura was the primary target. On Oct. 25 Omura was hit hard and then on Nov. 11 the B-29s returned in a mission to destroy all the center's structures still left standing.

Kyushu is the most southern of the Japanese homeland islands.

Ration Board Has Changes In Personnel

Miss Ruth Anderson, Chief Clerk, Resigns, Miss Young Named

J. G. Callaway, district director of the OPA, Kansas City, in a telephone call to the Democrat today afternoon, stated he had received, in the afternoon mail, the resignation of E. F. Hausam, Jr., as chairman of the Pettis County Ration Board.

Mr. Callaway stated he regretted to accept the resignation, which was effective immediately. Mr. Hausam, he said, had been a splendid chairman, given considerable time to the work, and had been very efficient.

Miss Ruth Anderson, who for nearly two years had been chief clerk of the Pettis County Ration Board, has resigned and will accept employment with Montgomery-Ward after December 1.

Her resignation was given after C. P. Short, field operations officer of the OPA, Kansas City, had notified her that he contemplated a transfer for her from that position, according to Mr. Short.

A complete change over in office management is being conducted at the local office. Mr. Short explained that he had been sent to Sedalia to standardize the operation of the office so that better service can be given the people of this locality.

Miss Thelma Young, who has been price panel clerk for more than a year, was appointed by Mr. Short to assume the duties of chief clerk.

Miss Mary Margaret Hyatt, who has been connected with the rationing board for about two years, and has been head clerk of the gasoline rationing board, tendered her resignation Monday to Mr. Short. Mr. Short accepted the resignation, which was effective, immediately.

Other Changes

Mr. Short explained the new plan necessitated the change and the rearrangement of the various clerks. After announcing Miss Young's promotion he also announced the other changes in the office.

Miss Hazel Hurt who has been clerk of the tire rationing board was changed to the price panel clerk, four rationing clerks were also named, and there remains one vacancy which is expected to be filled immediately. Those already named are: Miss Elizabeth McClure, Mrs. Richard Scarborough, and Miss Davie Jean Hatfield.

Two administrative clerks have been named, Miss Tracy Lee Berry and Miss Jo Ann Leftwich.

Nubbins in 'Bad Shape'

DENVER, Nov. 21—(P)—A little boy lay in a Denver hospital bed today "in bad shape" after a tiring pre-dated Christmas celebration.

Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hoffman of Cheyenne, Wyo., operated presents Sunday that came from as far away as Maine and Florida and then was whisked 100 miles to Denver from Cheyenne last night in his doctor's automobile for an examination by a urologist.

The boy's physician, Dr. C. D. Savory, said that he was in "bad shape" and that he didn't think the examination would help but that everything was being tried. Nubbins was under treatment about a month ago by the urologist.

A bladder malady which doctors described as incurable may take Nubbins' life before Dec. 25. That's why the Hoffmans decided to hold the party early—a party that attracted attention throughout the nation.

In the last few days Nubbins has lost four pounds. Over a longer period of time his weight decreased from 30 to 18 pounds.

Japs Claim 8 Superforts

By The Associated Press

Tokyo radio reported 70 or 80 American Superforts struck in Omura areas of western Kyushu island in southern Japan today. The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, asserted Japanese interceptors engaged the B-29s in "fierce air duels that raged from 9:45 a. m. to 11 a. m. (Tokyo Time). Broadcasters asserted eight Superforts were shot down and another damaged.

A Domei news agency report predicted that later Japanese radio accounts would report higher "enemy losses" after an "investigation of the air battle." Tokyo said long hanging clouds blanketed the area and prevented "accurate bombing attacks." As usual, Domei reported "damages suffered by our side were extremely slight."

J. T. Reed Has Reason to Smile

Flight Officer J. T. Warden of the Sedalia Air Base found a billfold on Ohio street this morning.

Since it contained no identification, he brought it to the Democrat office, and placed a "found" advertisement in the classified section.

Scarcely five minutes later, J. T. Reed, route 1, Sedalia, came in to renew his subscription. When he reached to his pocket for his wallet, it wasn't there.

Mr. Reed's description tallied exactly with that of the billfold which had just been found.

He soon located Flight Officer Warden, recovered his billfold, and returned to the Democrat office.

There was a big smile on his face as he pulled out his billfold and for his paper.

"This is my lucky day," he said.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(P)—Donald M. Nelson has been designated "personal representative" of President Roosevelt, with rank at the cabinet level, and will occupy offices in the White House. LONDON, Nov. 20—(P)—Red army troops closed in today on northern escape routes for enemy troops rolled back to the outskirts of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city, as the Germans declared the Russians had opened their winter offensive far to the north against 300,000 Nazis pocketed in western Latvia.

Late front reports said a German withdrawal from Koskole appeared imminent. Nazi escape routes to the east and west of Miskolc, 85 miles northeast of besieged Budapest, already were cut.

One Red army column had battled to the outskirts of Eger, 22 miles southwest of Miskolc, Russian front dispatches said.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(P)—Plans for an early meeting of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin appear to have hit a snag. Despite hopes freely expressed here and in London, the best prospect now is for a parley early in 1945.

Exactly what has happened to the projected big-three meeting before the end of this year is not certain. But presumably the way in which the European war is having to be fought full-scale into the winter and the probability now that it will last into next spring has had a lot to do with it.

20 Attacking Japanese Planes Destroyed, Many Others Damaged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(P)—The huge Omura aircraft factory on the southernmost Japanese home island of Kyushu was blasted for the third time today by B-29 Superfortresses.

Adverse weather diverted part of the mission, operating in large force, resulting in two other strikes—one at the docks of Nanking and the other at Shanghai against military storage and trans-shipment facilities.

A 20th airforce communique said 20 attacking Japanese planes were destroyed together with 16 probably destroyed and 19 damaged in the course of the operation. It was the first time that a B-29 mission had encountered fighter plane opposition in strength. There was little anti-aircraft opposition, however.

It is too early to determine whether our task force suffered any losses, the communique said.

(The Tokyo radio said today that 70 more superfortresses struck in two waves at the Nagasaki and Omura areas of Kyushu and that "fierce air duels" resulted. An imperial communique issued later claimed 14 B-29s were "definitely" shot down and 11 other "probably.")

The smash at Omura was accomplished through a heavy cloud undercast by means of precision instruments. The results were not observed.

At Shanghai the observed results were termed fair to good. The Nanking attack resulted in two direct hits on warehouses and near misses off a cargo vessel.

"The daylight mission continued the strategic reduction of the large Omura works which was begun on Oct. 25 and resumed on Nov. 11," the communique said.

The drone of the sky dreadnaughts is a sound which has now been heard eight times since last June 15 by workers on Kyushu island.

Other strikes have been on industrial targets of Yawata and Nagasaki on the island. The Omura plant is a modern installation including about 75 buildings adjacent to the Omura naval station and constructed during the present war. It has assembly, repair and training facilities and is on the east coast of Omura bay, 12 miles northeast of Nagasaki.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding the 20th air force, earlier today made a brief announcement here of the new superfortress strike.

A Press-Scimitar photographer said the rear Rock Island car was damaged only slightly and none of the passengers was injured.

The accident occurred across the river on the Arkansas side of the bridge.

Police reported a fog over the river at the time of the accident.

The affairs of the rationing counter, and this position has been given Mrs. Lon Leslie.

Mr. Short further explained that better service can be rendered the public if applicants will mail in their applications to the board in preference to making a personal call. "By mailing in the applications," he said, "the various departments will receive the applications promptly and be give prompt attention, where under the old method much time was taken by the clerks waiting on the counter and trying to receive applications, thus causing delay.

"Of course there are some who must call in person, but they are few and can be easily handled at the counter," he explained. Concluding he said, "The work load of the clerks in the office is being reassigned, which we expect to be beneficial, not only to the patrons but to the clerks themselves."

It was indicated the two vacancies created by the resignation of Miss Anderson, which went into effect on Saturday, November 18, and that of Miss Hyatt, will be filled as soon as the proper requests are granted by the Kansas City office.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 15 quarts of urine a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The plaintiff filed motion for a new trial, which was sustained, and the matter settled today by consent of all parties.

Frank Armstrong and Henry C. Salveter represented the plaintiff, and Fred F. Wesner the defendant.

Yanks Blast Jap Destroyer

No mention was made of sighting a battleship and cruiser, previously bombed and left exploding and in flames in the harbor. (This would indicate they sank).

Docks at the naval base were left burning by the new nighttime raid.

Mitchell medium bombers and fighters lashing at Tarakan island off the east coast of Borneo, set fire to a gunboat, five small freighters, ten barges, and oil pumping and storage facilities. Smoke billowed up for three miles above the oil installations.

Yanks Blast Jap Destroyer

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 21.—(AP)—American Liberators blasted a Japanese destroyer in their second strike at the enemy's Brunei naval base on North Borneo, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

No mention was made of sighting a battleship and cruiser, previously bombed and left exploding and in flames in the harbor. (This would indicate they sank).

Mitchell medium bombers and fighters lashing at Tarakan island off the east coast of Borneo, set fire to a gunboat, five small freighters, ten barges, and oil pumping and storage facilities. Smoke billowed up for three miles above the oil installations.

Rev. J. C. Havighurst Tells Sorosis Members of Chinese

A discussion of "A Present Day Chinese Problem" was given at Sorosis Monday afternoon by Rev. J. C. Havighurst of Marshall, superintendent of the Sedalia-Marshall district of the Methodist churches, who for eleven years was a missionary to China. Mr. Havighurst was introduced by Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, chairman of the department of History and Literature. In the eleven years spent in China, during which time he was president of a boys school in which there were five hundred students, Mr. Havighurst learned a great deal about the people of China and learned to understand their characteristics, their way of thinking and their problems. First of all Mr. Havighurst explained, it would be to the advantage of the United States to have a strong, democratic, independent and industrial China, because China is a peace loving people. Here are one-fifth of the population of the world and like the United States, they desire no more territory. Must Work With China Now that we have for the first time been attacked by a nation in the Orient, to whom in the Orient area must we look. The Philippines? Because they are ours. The Australians? Because they are white. These are but islands, Mr. Havighurst said, and not densely populated. It would be China which is part of the continent. We must work with China to keep order in the Orient. We need China for the military war with Japan, we need her men and her bases. For seven years China has been fighting our war and yet only three per cent of the lend lease has gone to China, Mr. Havighurst said. We need China at the peace table, it should be accorded an important place because it is on China that America can depend to stand by us and to back us up. China wants peace. She wants freedom and time to educate her people and develop her country. After the war is won and peace is written we need China in the building of a new order. Chinese Work Slowly Idealistic conceptions of the Chinese by those Americans going in there will be shattered. A good look in the life of the Chinese takes time. The American wants to get things done. They want to work fast, efficiently. The Chinese must work things out their own way—slowly. Having a great admiration for the American people they are a bit mystified as to why the United States continued to send materials to Japan which were used to bomb China. They can't understand the governments of other nations receiving lend-lease aid from the United States, when they receive only three per cent and only a third of that goes directly to their government, the speaker said. The Chinese are great believers in character and want people to be what they profess to be. They hate hypocrites. There is danger, said Mr. Havighurst, of losing China. There may be created a lack of confidence and it would pay to keep China's friendship. They are wondering if it is their color. Are they considered an inferior people? Plays Great Part Chiang Kai-Shek has played a great part in this war in China, said Mr. Havighurst. Although he may not be perfect he is the one man who can hold China together. Criticism of him has not come from those who are closest to him. The missionaries still in China have a better understanding of the facts. When asked if he thought there was a possibility of the yellow race combining to turn on the white race, Mr. Havighurst said: "It is possible but not probable. That is why it is so important to keep the friendship of the Chinese. They will never turn against the white man as long as justice and fair play prevail." There is a national sensitiveness with the Chinese, the speaker said. They want only to regain their national self respect in the family of nations of the world. Mrs. Austin Hurley, president, presided and announced, in the absence of Mrs. Abe Bertman, chairman of the Civics department, the program for next week. William F. Knox, director Division of Field Service, State Teachers' college, Warrensburg, will speak on "Colleges Prepare for the Future."

A Prayer of Thanksgiving God of our fathers... at this Thanksgiving time our hearts are filled to overflowing... our eyes, once wet with tears, are drier now... and broken hearts are surely mending because of Thy blessings unto us. A mighty fortress is our God!... And that Divine guidance which has always been our priceless heritage is showing us the way! For this we offer thanks. Thou hast stood beside our leaders... our loved ones, departed... and those who have remained at home. Thou hast given us courage and led us victoriously into battle... to build those things which Thou hast taught us to be righteous! For this we offer thanks. May we in turn bring to Thee, as proof of our devotion, the day when righteousness shall cover the earth... as the waters cover the sea.

DAILY WASHINGTON

Merry-go- Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—About two years ago, this columnist reported that General Buckner, then U. S. commander in Alaska, had used army airplanes to fly to interior Alaskan lakes to hunt moose, while the ordinary GI was not even given a license to hunt rabbits near camp.

This columnist also reported that when the Interior department had refused to give General Buckner a hunting license, he went before a local Alaskan judge, who issued a mandamus ordering the Interior department to show cause why it should not give a license to Buckner.

The general immediately issued hot denials, though later the justice department eased out the judge who got the hunting license for him.

Now, however, the Interior department has received an official report that General Buckner has been at it again. This time, according to the report, he cracked up an Army plane while hunting walrus. Furthermore, the Interior department says he shot a walrus, which is against the law. Walrus are rare and are reserved entirely for the Eskimos.

The Interior department, long peeved at General Buckner's hunting activities, this time is going in to the matter thoroughly. An investigator was sent to St. Lawrence island, the scene of the general's reported walrus hunting and Interior department officials say the facts in the case have been clearly established. The investigator reported that the general not only cracked up his plane but, after shooting the walrus, took trophies away with him, which also is against the law.

Interior department officials say they have not decided whether to take legal action against General Buckner but that they are considering it. Such action is complicated by the fact that the general has left Alaska and recently was in Hawaii.

60 Million Jobs
One of the most significant discussions affecting the post-war world and the 60,000,000 jobs promised by Roosevelt is now taking place behind the scenes among top administrationites. It involves the price which manufacturers can charge for peacetime consumer goods when they begin making them, as some companies will shortly.

A certain amount of peacetime production already has been authorized by the War Production Board, and to prevent inflation, the OPA will set the price of these goods. This is where the backstage debate has waxed hot and vehement.

On one side have been Economic Stabilizer Judge Vinson, War Mobilizer Jimmy Byrnes and, for a while, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles, all arguing that prices of civilian articles produced now must not rise above the prices paid for the same articles in 1942.

On the other side are industry members of OPA, led by James Brownlee, formerly of Frankfort Distilleries, who argue that prices must be above 1942 in order to allow for increased wages and the higher cost of raw materials. They have worked out a substitute formula based upon 1941 prices plus wage increases, plus the increased cost of raw materials and they have now sold this formula to Bowles, despite his former speeches for the 1942 price base.

Judge Vinson, however, points out that increased wage and raw material costs in many cases have been nullified by labor saving devices. Most striking example of this was in the OPA study of the steel industry, showing that, despite increased wages, the cost of producing steel had decreased 3 per cent per unit since 1942.

Another factor influencing Economic Stabilizer Vinson is the fact that 85 per cent of the goods involved are produced by only 18 companies.

Incidentally, Vinson is supported by General Electric's Charley Wilson, formerly of the War Production Board, who says that GE will sell its refrigerators and washing machines at pre-war prices. To do otherwise, he says, is "shallow, passive thinking."

Finally, Vinson, Byrnes and other administration leaders are beginning to lay the economic ground work for the 60,000,000 jobs which Roosevelt promised after the war. And they are absolutely convinced that, in order to have a big consumer demand, there must be low prices, which in turn will keep factory wheels turning and men employed. The principle of high prices and scarcity, they argue, will mean fewer jobs and depression.

Note — James Brownlee, leader of the "higher-price" industry group inside the OPA, warned Chester Bowles during the election campaign that, if he made a speech for Roosevelt, every top OPA executive would resign. Bowles did not make the speech.

Capital Chaff

The Treasury department had two war films ready to show the public in the war bond drive, calculated to bring the war really home to the American people. One showed a sailor on a stricken vessel, his clothes aflame, desperately trying to put the flames out. The other was a close-up film of a soldier on the battlefield—dying.

When the films were shown to OWI, it not only ordered that they not be shown to the public, but that the films be destroyed. . . . The White House got a terrific barrage from the senate when the word leaked out that two Jesse Jones henchmen, plus one disciple of Democratic treasurer Ed Paulley, were to be appointed to the three-man Surplus War Property Board. Senator Murray of Montana wired the president that he was shocked at the proposed appointments and would do his best to block them. . . . Veteran observers on Capitol Hill were amazed to notice that the first day's proceedings of congress featured not a single political speech either in the senate or the house, though it was just after the red-hot national election.

Dewey Aids Anti-Trust Suits
Certain Republican business executives who have been trekking down to the justice department since election day are certainly sore at Governor Dewey. They have come to Washington to try to reach a compromise on anti-trust suits and persuade the justice department to settle for consent decrees.

But in reply, the justice department boys are quoting Governor Dewey's campaign speech in which he promised to enforce the Sherman anti-trust act; said he would fire present justice department personnel because they weren't enforcing the act vigorously enough.

"How can we settle your suits out of court," the anti-trust division boys replied, "when your own candidate for president said we weren't vigorous enough in prosecution? Besides, when we permitted a consent decree in the Standard Oil and Dow Chemical cases, they went around later telling people that we had let them off—which wasn't the case. So we'd better not accept any more settlements out of court."

Note — A lot of companies apparently waited to see how the election would turn out, then, when Dewey wasn't elected, they came streaming to Washington to try to settle. Apparently they did not take Dewey's campaign speech too literally.

Poor Campaign Tactics
Trained political observers have concluded that this election once again demonstrated that appeals to racial prejudice and waving of the Red herring are not good campaign tactics, that Hitleresque tactics are likely to backfire.

One example occurred in the 33rd District of Pennsylvania, which runs out from industrial Pittsburgh. The Democratic candidate was Congressman Sammy Weiss, who was kept so busy refereeing football games that he had only a minimum of time to campaign. The district is normally Democratic and dopests figured that Weiss would ease through with a 10,000 majority.

The campaign was clean and confined to the issues until the Sunday before election. On that day, 100,000 dodgers, signed by six CIO members supporting Republican Ray A. Liddle, were spread through the district. Addressed "To Our Fellow CIO Members," the pamphlets demanded:

"Would you vote for Earl Browder or Sidney Hillman for president?"

"We do not think so. Then why vote for a candidate who is their candidate?"

"Mr. Weiss, Democratic candidate, a favored son of these men. We are speaking to you all as Americans. Don't let to make a Soviet USA by electing candidates who will take orders from these forces of Communism."

Monday morning, Weiss' headquarters were jammed with indignant Italians, Poles and representatives of other racial groups offering to aid him in any way they could. Large groups of Republicans split their ticket to vote for Weiss, although they had had no intention of doing so earlier.

When the ballots were counted Tuesday night, Weiss was far ahead of the rest of the Democratic ticket, was re-elected by a majority just under 40,000 instead of the scant 10,000 which was expected.

Buy bonds till it hurts!

Go without and do without if need be to help speed the pace of victory

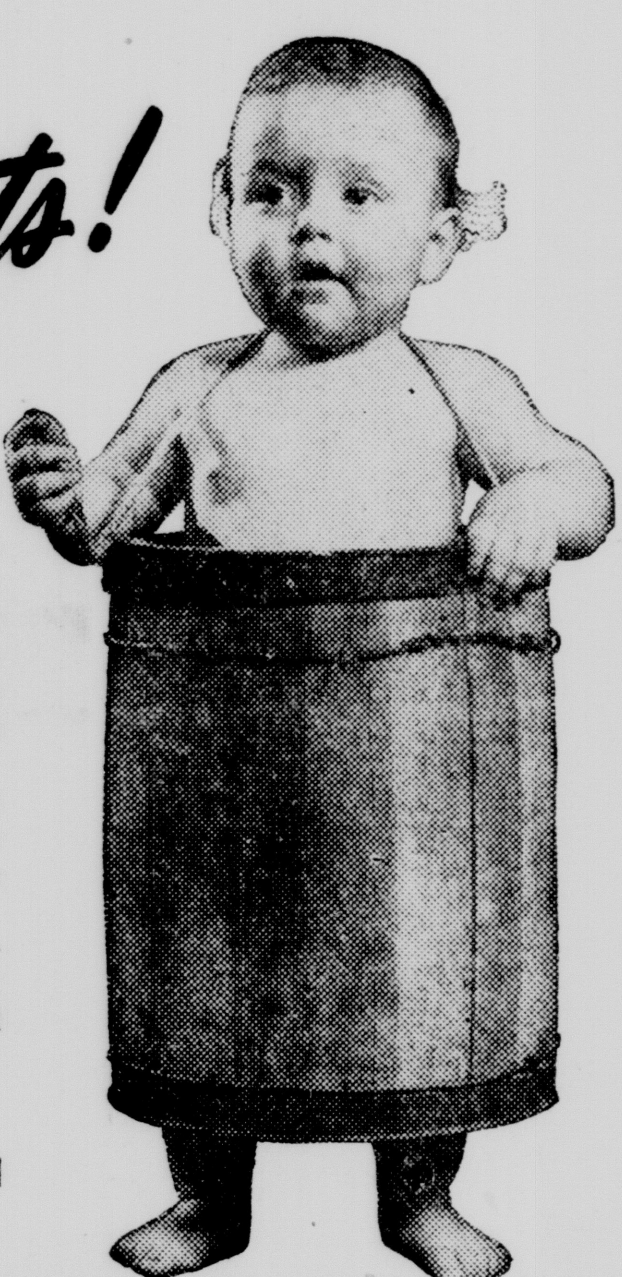

THE young man in this picture obviously is an extreme example. Our Government certainly does not expect any of us to go that far in restricting our buying—even to put the 6th War Loan over the top.

But our fighting forces certainly will feel that their sacrifices are appreciated if we deny ourselves some things and put the money into extra War Bonds instead.

Remember, War Bonds pay off at maturity at the rate of $4 for every $3 invested. Try to buy at least one extra $100 Bond while this 6th War Loan Drive is on.

Oft forgot was the spare

But now 'days it gets air

War forced closest attention to every motoring detail. And this habit of thoughtfulness has grown on car owners.

You'd only be testing human kindness by changing to a half-flat spare and setting out for the next air hose. Where a forgetful man actually tries it, a good Samaritan generally drives up alongside, pointing a helpful warning. America has become as thoughtful as all that toward her indispensable cars. And of all the examples of car-care the greatest single one you can follow is to have your engine OIL-PLATED. In that way—by changing to Conoco Nth motor oil for Winter—by changing to this patented oil that OIL-PLATES—you'll give your engine's insides the nth degree of protection from acid corrosion.

All engine combustion creates corrosive acids. They're bad enough even when "exhaled" fairly well, but from now on they won't be! Winter's extra-low mileage and cool operation mean acids at their worst. Patented Conoco Nth oil, however—thanks to costly pioneer research—brings the special ingredient whose magnet-like effect OIL-PLATES your engine's fine inner finish, to cope with corrosion. Attached as closely as protective chrome plating could be, the internal OIL-PLATING keeps up its steadiest possible hindrance to direct contact between acids and engine parts...Then down go the chances of corrosion, just as soon as you change to popular-priced Nth oil for Winter, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Council Recessed
To Wednesday
Members of the city council at the regular council meeting Monday night decided to recess, because of the lack of a quorum and to meet again at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.
The members present were Frank Middleton, John Taylor and Herbert Seifert. They elected D. S. Lamm, city counselor, acting clerk, and he told them he had received a telephone call, about 5:00 o'clock in the evening, from Mayor A. H. Wilks, stating he and other members of the Council were attending a meeting of the Municipal League, in Columbia, and believing the evening program would be beneficial to them in their civic work, had decided to stay over.
Frank Middleton took the seat as chairman, and it was then the motion was made to recess.
Fred Benz, a spectator at the meeting, asked to be heard on a matter, stating it would be impossible for him to return Wednesday evening. He said he realized there was a minority present, but he asked them to convey his message to the other members. He was asking for the return of money paid for a piece of land on the southeast corner of Mill and Pettis, which he said he said he bought in a tax sale, declaring later he learned W. W.
Bolton held title, and tax receipts to the same land.

Martin Trial to
Be in February
Edward Jewett Martin, charged in Cooper county with second degree murder in the slaying of his grandmother, Mrs. Edward M.
Jewett, last May 10, will be tried at the next term of circuit court at Booneville. The court will convene Feb. 19, 1945.
The preliminary hearing of Martin was waived Saturday before Justice of the Peace Percy
M. Floyd and Martin was remanded to custody of Sheriff George Harlan in default of bond of $15,000.
Martin recently made a confession declaring he and his grandmother were quarrelling over his drinking while in Cooper county, and during the argument, he asserts, the right hand door of the car opened and Mrs. Jewett fell out injuring her head. He added he then backed the car over her, and when she died he took the body back to Durham, N. C., where they had been making their home. He disposed of it, he said, by attaching weights to it and dumping it into Eastwood Lake, near that place.

Injured As Car
And Truck Collide
I. J. Rhodes, Beaman, received a laceration of the scalp in his forehead over the left eye, and a contusion of the left arm when the automobile he was driving and a truck collided nearly head-on on a narrow bridge one mile north of Beaman Monday evening about 6 o'clock.
The crash was heard by Frank Blaylock, who lives close to the bridge. Mr. Blaylock was in his barn and went to the scene immediately. Finding Rhodes hurt

THE STORY: Ginger was right in prophesying that Boggio's attack on the bar would leave him cockier than ever. He braves Kabateck for not working hard enough but refuses to let him open an office.

XV

AS time went on my meetings with Ginger were greatly simplified. She had hit upon a system that we called "Maisie."

Maisie O'Driscoll had been one of the girls in the line at Minsky's when Ginger had first started out there. Maisie was the third from the left, Ginger the fourth. That kind of a setup makes for either rivalry or friendship. In this case they hit it off.

What objections could Boggio have if Ginger suddenly decided to see a whole lot of her friend who had meanwhile married and settled down?

And then one evening we became reckless. Busier than ever, Boggio had told Ginger he'd be out until late.

"Let's go to the Scheherazade," she suggested.

It was a flashy place. The tables were arranged in tiers around the dance floor, enabling everyone to get a good view of the floor show that went on intermittently throughout the evening. Our table was on the highest tier, on a sort of mezzanine. The Scheherazade wasn't very big but the walls were practically all mirror and when half a dozen girls kicked their legs it looked as if there were millions of them.

Ginger and I were in excellent spirits and after a couple of cocktails became positively boisterous.

"Hello Maisie," she grinned.

"Hello Ginger."

She turned to face the mirror across from us.

"Don't you think we make a pretty good combination?"

"You bet we do. With my looks and your brains we're about the smartest couple in the joint."

We both laughed and then something happened. Ginger turned to look at herself in the mirror again and the laugh froze on her face.

"What's the matter?"

She didn't answer and her face was white as a sheet. I followed her gaze. The mirror she was looking into reflected the one facing the bar downstairs. My gaze slowly traveled along several figures seated on the high stools, then my stomach turned to lead.

Holding a glass of milk in one hand and talking excitedly to a man whose face I couldn't see was Boggio. All he had to do was look up and he'd see us.

Practically paralyzed, I slowly turned back to Ginger again.

"Oh, Leo," she murmured. "I'm scared. Get me out of this. Do something, please!"

"Shut up!" I snapped. "And don't move."

It was hard enough for me to figure out what we were going to do without having Ginger throw a fit.

In this lousy Hall of Mirrors we had as much chance of remaining unseen as a couple of goldfish.

Faintly I leaned forward. "Where's the little girl's room?"

I whispered. "You might slip in there."

"Right back of you," she answered. She was about to rise but I stopped her.

"It's no good. When you walk past that mirror you'll be smack in his field of vision. Just stay put and look at the menu."

IT was one of those huge affairs, the size of a tabloid. She did as she was told and I continued to think. Maybe we could slip over to a less prominent spot? But the place was packed. Only one table was empty and it was marked "Reserved." It wasn't much better than ours out you clutch at any straw in an emergency. Hiding my face I hailed the waiter as he walked by.

"Right back of you," she answered. She was about to rise but I stopped her.

"Look," I said. "We want to move to that table over there. Can you arrange it?"

"Sorry. We've been holding it for some regulars. And I've promised it to a couple of gentlemen at the bar if the party doesn't show up in five minutes."

"One of them drinking a glass of milk?" I managed to say.

"Yes."

I beckoned to him to come closer. He leaned down.

"I don't want him to see me. Stall him. Get him out of here. I'll make it worth your while."

"I'm sorry. I've already promised him the table."

This was no time for arguing. "How much did he give you?" I inquired. The waiter hesitated.

"Come on!" I snapped. "How much?"

"Ten dollars," he said, reluctantly.

I fumbled in my pocket, pulled out a wad of notes and peeled off three fives. I slipped them into his willing hand.

"Tell him you're sorry but that party is arriving. They've just phoned you. Give him back his ten bucks. When he goes I'll give you another fifteen."

He bowed, shoved the plates on a tray, and scurried off.

After a while I mustered up enough courage to look in the mirror. Down at the bar the waiter was arguing with Boggio. I couldn't stand it and closed my eyes.

An eternity passed and then I felt a tap on my shoulder. The waiter was standing beside me.

"They're gone."

I slumped back in my chair and didn't move for a few moments. I was numb all over. Finally the waiter coughed and I pulled myself together. I gave him the dough I'd promised and also paid the check.

We went down to the checkroom and I threw Ginger's coat at her. I wasn't in any mood for niceties. I ordered a taxi and paced up and down until it drew up in front of the door. Then I put Ginger in it.

It was only after it had driven down the street that I weakly staggered over to my car.

Hearings Are Waived By K. Holloway

Is Accused In The Killing Of Sheriff Louis Miesner

Kenneth Holloway, 28, charged with first degree murder, in connection with the murder of Sheriff Louis J. Miesner, who was shot and killed in the Benton county jail at Warsaw, on Wednesday November 1, by Buster Harold Goff, Monday waived his preliminary hearing. He was bound over to the criminal court of Benton county by Justice of the Peace J. L. Davis.

Holloway also waived his preliminary hearing before Justice Davis on a charge of burglary and larceny of a garage at Lincoln, Mo., from which several hundred dollars worth of merchandise was stolen. He was represented in this case by Fred F. Wesner, Sedalia attorney, only to waive the preliminary hearing. Mr. Wesner made it plain to the court that he was not representing Holloway in the murder charge and had been hired to defend his client only in the burglary and larceny charge.

Goff Was At Warsaw
Goff, who it was said did the actual shooting of Sheriff Miesner in his jail, appeared before the court several days ago and waived the preliminary hearing. He was in Warsaw this morning, taken there from the Greene county jail, Springfield, by members of the state highway patrol in case Holloway should desire to ask for the hearing.

The two prisoners, both held in Springfield, were taken into Warsaw about 10:30 o'clock, and after a conference in the Benton county court house between Holloway and Mr. Wesner, they were taken before Judge Davis and immediately followed the proceedings, were taken back to Springfield.

Goldie Smith In Jail
Goldie Smith, 18, also charged in connection with the murder and with the burglary and larceny charge of the garage, waived her hearings several days ago and was bound over to the criminal court. She is being detained in the women's part of the Benton county jail. The woman sometime ago gave a statement, it was said, implicating Holloway in a planned jail delivery, which resulted in the fatal shooting.

She was in the Sheriff's part of the jail with Goff at the time Goff obtained the Sheriff's sub-machine gun and the two waited for the return of the Sheriff from town. It was said that she sent the sheriff upstairs to look over some work Goff had been doing and when he got upstairs was fronted by Goff with the gun.

When Miesner started to turn and run, Goff fired the gun three times fatally wounding the sheriff.
